

Andrew Aramayo
Finance
Innovation Fellows Program - University of Florida
Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering/Warrington College of Business

Andrew Aramayo is a junior at the University of Florida's Heavener School of Business, graduating with an undergraduate degree in Finance. He transferred over from Santa Fe College in the Fall of 2020.

Andrew was born and raised in Miami, Florida. He quickly gained familiarity with the Spanish culture and appreciated its values. It was his time in Miami where he became intermediately fluent in Spanish. After studying Spanish for over a decade and visiting his ancestral home in Bolivia, Andrew opened his mind up to different cultural lifestyles. His hobbies and interests include weightlifting, sustainable energy, A.I, and progressive technologies.

Throughout his time at the University of Florida, Andrew Aramayo started an online business that specializes in dog and cat accessories. The company, Modern paw, was marketed to four English-speaking countries: United States, United Kingdom, Australia, and Canada. This endeavour allowed him to gain extensive knowledge in online marketing and customer service. After a successful campaign, Andrew shut down his website due to Coronavirus concerns.

He is currently involved in the Student Investment Club at the University of Florida. The club gives students the opportunity to work hands-on with stock market investing.

Andrew plans to graduate with his Bachelors of Science degree in Finance in May of 2022. He hopes to work as a financial analyst for an energy or technology corporation.

