

Isabel Espinal
General Business and Entrepreneurship
Innovation Fellows Program - University of Florida
Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering/Warrington College of Business

Isabel Espinal is a Senior at the University of Florida, pursuing a degree in General Business with a minor in Entrepreneurship. She is currently studying abroad in Madrid, Spain where she plans to expand her knowledge in international business studies and the Spanish culture.

Isabel transferred from Miami Dade College to the University of Florida in the Spring of 2019, and since then she has been actively involved with student organizations that promote her personal and professional growth. Last semester, she was selected as Global Gator Guide by the Global Business Society where she managed several events planned for the exchange students. In addition, she completed the Retail You Program, and has worked with the marketing team for the Florida Women in Business Student Organization.

Besides from her experiences at UF, Isabel has had different work experiences around the world and has learned from many industries. Before starting college, she did an internship in GAIA Trades, a trading and sourcing company in Shanghai, China where she worked as a Purchaser and Quality control intern. In the spare time, she also helped grow a pet start up company, Spear Leash, which expanded to more than four cities in the country. In the summer of 2019, after her first semester at the University of Florida, Isabel interned for Atmosfera a Certified Dealer of Herman Miller, in Guadalajara, Mexico where she was able to rotate through the sales, marketing, accounting, and design departments.

As an International Student from Colombia, Isabel has gone above and beyond to take advantage of what the University of Florida has to offer for her and her future. Therefore, she always takes a step forward to continue pursuing her dreams as a future entrepreneur and continue to grow as a better human.