Economics
Innovation Fellows Program - University of Florida
Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering/Warrington College of Business

Mia Molinelli is a second-year student enrolled at the University of Florida, and is currently pursuing a major in Economics along with two minors in both Environmental Science and Entrepreneurship. Mia currently holds multiple leadership positions with different organizations throughout campus, such as being a Partnership Coordinator for TEDxUF, Hospital Volunteer/ Special Events Team member with Dream Team Engineering, Public Relations Assistant for the Sisterhood Enrichment Team of Kappa Delta, and a member of the organization Women in Economics. Mia is also attending a 3-day Women in Energy Leadership Forum fully sponsored in Tampa this November, where she hopes to expand her knowledge on the energy industry and gain valuable networking and professional skills. As a strong believer in the importance of mental health and the value in personal well-being, Mia often spends her free time going on walks in Depot Park and interning/ taking classes at a local yoga studio. Mia also regularly participates in multiple intermural sports leagues, such as flag football, kickball, and soccer.
